A PRAYER FOR ADVENT

by Maren C. Tirabassi

God, as we gather into Advent, let me embrace the Nativity so that I can embrace those near to me and far away,
for my own strength is not enough.

On every day of Advent, let me light all four candles of the Wreath, (at least in my mind)
and sit with hope, peace, joy, and love, just for a moment
so I can respond to what someone may need, and to what I may need.

Let me sing a carol or two every day not waiting for the human-dated holiday
so a sweet song, a soft one, or one bright as a bell, come quick to my tongue.

Let me read the old texts often, as friends, not lessons in candles, reflect on each aspect to face realities coming this year,
with calm, courage, trust.

And to recognize, on the very personal level,
someone who's life has been upended by an angel ...
or who's lost sight of a star ...
sings about holy justice ...
works through the night ...
or is at the juncture between shutting a door
or offering a manger.

Center me in this Advent season,
so I expect Christmas to surprise me every day.
Amen

A neighborhood squabble brought several women to court, each eager to tell the judge why the whole thing was someone else's fault. "One at a time, ladies," said the judge. "You'll each be given a chance to testify. I'll hear the oldest among you first."

The case was dismissed for lack of evidence.

The real reason solar energy has never made it as a substitute for gas and electricity is that the utility companies still haven't figured out a way to put a meter on the sun.

Thoughts from Pastor Phil

Learning How to See

by Rev. Dr. Brian D. McLaren

Over the last decade, I have felt increasingly alarmed about the vitriol, distrust, and destructive miscommunication that are tearing people apart everywhere I turn ... in nations, in religious communities, in businesses, in non-profit organizations, in friendships, even in families.

On social media, name-calling, misinformation, and propaganda squeeze out intelligent, honest, respectful conversation. In the mass media, accusations of 'fake news' fly in all directions, leaving people wondering who to trust. In the world of religion, shallow, mean-spirited, or profit-hungry preachers draw huge crowds week after week, and they consistently appeal, not to the better angels of human nature, but to our unspoken fears and unacknowledged prejudices.

In the world of politics, uninformed, dishonest, and manipulative candidates keep winning elections, telling people not what they need to hear, but what they want to hear. Because of our polarization and paralysis, major problems are going unresolved, which intensifies frustration on all sides, and leaves (literally) billions of us vulnerable to populist demagogues. The social fabric seems to be stretching so tight that it might rip apart. That scares me. "What's going on here?" I keep asking myself.

Philosopher George Lakoff challenges the mistaken idea that arose during the Enlightenment that it is possible to see issues clearly, based entirely on reason: Enlightenment reason says everybody reasons the same way.... Enlightenment reason says that all you need to do is get the facts, and everybody will reason to the right conclusion, since everybody has the same reason. No. If they have different worldviews, they'll reason to different conclusions. Enlightenment reason does not recognize different worldviews. Enlightenment reason doesn't admit framing. It doesn't admit metaphorical thought. It doesn't admit the way people really work.

Here's the simple truth I began to see as I observed the decline in reasonableness, monitored the rise in dysfunctional and even dangerous discourse, and reviewed the academic literature:
People can't see what they can't see.

We all, yes, even me—and more shockingly, even you, have a whole set of assumptions and limitations, prejudices and preferences, likes, dislikes and triggers, fears and conflicts of interest, blind spots and obsessions that keep us from seeing what we could and would see if we didn't have them. We are almost always unconscious of these internal obstacles to seeing and understanding, which makes it even harder for us to address them. We are, you might say, blind to what blinds us. The name for these unconscious internal obstacles is bias.

Bias makes us resist and reject messages we should accept and accept messages we should resist and reject. In short ... we can't see what we can't see because our biases get in the way. (1)

Something to think about.

Many Blessings on the Journey,
Pastor Phil

UCC Board

Board members: Moderator Mike Most, Treasurer Barb Mika, Pastor Phil Milam, Music Coordinator Helen Zasada, Terry Dahmen, Karen Gran, Teri Hanson, Beda McKinney, Cheri Olson Binder, Scott Smith, Shelly Wilson

The board met on Monday, November 10th.

- Pastor Phil will be on vacation on December 28th. Helen Zasada will lead the worship service.
- More folks might be more inclined to signup for providing goodies after worship service if refreshments weren't anything elaborate. Donut holes would be just fine. This will be announced during church service.
- A seven foot balsam artificial tree donation has been accepted to be used this year.
- Budget requests for music ($750) and maintenance ($6500) were made.

The next board meeting will be on Monday, December 8th, for budget approval only.

Maintenance Committee

This group has been hard at work, keeping our church in tip-top shape. Here are some things they're busy doing:

- Researching a new provider for the furnace.
- Painting in the kitchen and the basement great room ceiling will be done.
- Lining up piano tuning two times per year by Stan Zealand.
- Clearing the storage room in the basement of papers and books, so that it can be used for coat storage, as well as altar and pulpit supplies/decorations.
- Getting prepared for winter snow and ice, salting and sanding will be done as needed on church sidewalks.

Men's Fellowship

This group meets on the second Wednesday of each month for breakfast in the Fellowship Hall, along with good conversations. They will meet on Wednesday, December 10th. There is no uniform dress code, but these two fine fellows missed the call on that. Lol!

Women's Fellowship

Ladies are welcome to join our UCC Women's Fellowship monthly meetings, held on the first Thursday of every month, September thru June. Coffee and goodies are at 9:30am with the meeting following at 10:00. This group enjoys conversations about our church and social events. We welcome any new ideas, suggestions for projects, opportunities to volunteer. — Please join us.

- No meeting in December. Instead, decorating the church for the holidays and setting up for the 2nd Chapter Garage Sale will be on Thursday, December 4th. Come and help if you can.
- The Women's Fellowship holiday party will be at Lakewoods on Thursday, January 8th, 2026. There will be a meeting beforehand, at 10:30, with a buffet lunch following at 11:30. Cost is $10.00/per person. Carpooling from UCC is an option. Arrive at church at 10:00, leaving shortly thereafter for Lakewoods.
- A vote was taken by secret ballot during the November meeting, with the results being overwhelming not to have the Country Store/Salad Luncheon in 2026.

2025 Memorial Christmas Tree

Why do we have a Memorial Tree? Well, intertwined with the joy of the Christmas season there are also moments of grief. It is a time of year when we may be missing someone special. The Memorial Tree gives each of us the opportunity to remember that significant person or to honor someone special who is still in our lives today.

You're invited to offer a donation of $5 per light either in "memory of" someone who has passed away or "in honor of" someone who is still living. Your donation will help us continue our mission of sharing God's love and ministry of extravagant welcome. A donation form has been included below. Please mail your check and completed form to the church or put it in the offering basket on Sunday Morning.

Our Memorial Tree lighting ceremony will be on Christmas Eve at 4:30PM during the worship service. Thank you in advance for your support.

Have a Merry Christmas!
Peace and Blessings,
